PALESTINE BENEVOLENCES OF NATHAN STRAUS HUGE

Jerusalem — The Palestine benevolences of Nathan Straus, New York philanthropist, amounted to $1,500,000 in thirteen years since the beginning of the war, his last gift of $100,000 for Zionist unemployment relief and medical work sent to Miss Henrietta Szold, the American member of the Zionist Executive in Jerusalem, on his birthday, bringing the total up to the million and a half mark.

Most of Mr. Straus' gifts are administered by Jewish bodies on the one condition that all races and creeds in Palestine must benefit alike from the services the aged philanthropist endowed.

Marion Among Majority of Ohio Cities With Increase In Building Over Last Year

General Gain Shown Throughout State in February Despite Drop in Other Sections of Country Revealed in Survey Just Completed

Although a survey just completed shows that the building program for February throughout the country showed a drop of nine per cent in comparison with the same month in 1927, Marion and a majority of other Ohio cities registered substantial increases.

The survey, made by S. W. Strauss & Co. Inc. building permits issued in Marion in February, 1927, at $9,325 and for the same month this year at $94,000. In January of this year the permits totaled $149,185.

Despite the fact that the Strauss report indicates prospects of building operations not being up to normal during the most of this year, Marion is looking forward to continued increase in construction work, either in new buildings or remodeling of old structures.

Homes Planned

Announcements made by W. T. Jones, C. D. & W. E. Schaffner, Charles A. Curtis and other prominent local realtors and builders have outlined plans for building of a large number of homes. In addition, several important projects for construction of business buildings and other structures have been started or planned.

Three already under way are the Palace Theater at the corner of W. Center and Campbell streets, the C. D. & W. Terminal station, W. Center-st and the new office of the First Church of Christ Scientist at Mt. Vernon-av and Church-st.

The survey included building figures for 90 representative cities located in different parts of the country. These places, outside of New York City, reported February permits and plans amounting to $194,130,401, while in the same month of 1927 the total was $214,743,155.

Other Cities in List

Other Ohio cities in addition to Marion showing substantial increases for February over the record for the same month in 1927, were Akron, Barberton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Cuyahoga Falls, East Cleveland, Elyria, Keokuk, Lakewood, Lima, Mansfield, Massillon, Middletown, Sandusky, Steubenville, Toledo and Warren.

The report states that considerable

REVIVAL SERVICES AT PROSPECT CLOSE

More Than 100 Conversions Are Recorded in Five Week Series

More than 100 conversions were made during the five-weeks junior revival services conducted by Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, this city, which concluded Sunday night in the opera house at Prospect. He was assisted throughout the services by Rev. Howard Felting, of this city, who presided as chorister and supervisor of children's activities.

The services were largely attended throughout the five weeks and on account of the increased attendance the meetings for the last two weeks were conducted in the opera house. Prior to this meetings were held each afternoon and night in the Baptist Church. Reverend Holliday spoke Sunday night on the subject, "The Book With Your Name," preaching to a capacity house. During the service a testimony was taken, 320 persons out of the 400 in attendance voted their sentiments against the Sunday motion picture shows.

JENKINS' HEARING IS CONTINUED

Columbus, March 20—The arraignment of Elmer Jenkins, city treasurer here, on manslaughter charges growing out of the death of Clement Walter, 31, who was found shot to death in City Hall early Wednesday morning, has been continued for two weeks, according to police prosecutor here today.

MRS. HILL RELEASED ON BOND OF $1,000

Columbus, March 20—Mrs. Lucy Hill, who is charged with concealing an escaped convict growing out of the escape of J. L. Whitfield, Cleveland lifer, from the Ohio State Penitentiary here, was released from Franklin County Jail on $1,000 bond here.

Mrs. Hill is the wife of Oren Hill, guard at the penitentiary who is held in Franklin County Jail without bond on charges growing out of the escape. Hill is alleged to have allowed Whitfield to escape and then furnished clothes and concealment. Whitfield died the same day of his escape from bullet wounds inflicted during his capture. Mrs. Hill is the mother of five small children.

WOMAN LEAVES $100 TO CHAUFFEUR SHE WED

Norwalk, March 20—Made public here when filed for probate, the will of Nellie S. Carr, widow of Harley R. Gibbs, widely-known Cleveland clubman, stipulated that $100 of her $150,000 estate should go to Arthur Carr, the chauffeur whom she married following Gibbs' death.

A Boston man, Roderick McLennon, was bequeathed $50,000 for his "kindness and true and holy friendship."

HIRSCH BECOMES CITY TREASURER

Columbus, March 20—Edward W. Hirsch today assumed his duties as treasurer of the city of Columbus, succeeding Elmer Jenkins, who is at liberty on bond on a charge of manslaughter.

Jenkins is held in connection with the death of Clement Walter, who is said to have been fatally shot early Wednesday morning, during or after a drinking bout.

WOMAN LEAPS FOUR FLOORS TO DEATH

Dayton, March 20—Mrs. Gertrude Rose, 49, is dead here today, of injuries sustained last night when she jumped from the fourth floor of the Miami Valley Hospital where she had been a patient, according to officials of the hospital.

Mrs. Rose had undergone an operation for appendicitis last week, and last night exhibited a high temperature. The nurse it was said, was called from the room for a moment. She returned just as her patient leaped from the window.

HOPWOOD RITES TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Cleveland, March 20—Funeral services for Eric C. Hopwood, Plain Dealer editor, who died here Sunday night, will be held at the home at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, it was announced today.

Life-long friends and associates will act as pall-bearers and honorary pall-bearer. Burial will be in Lake View Cemetery.

HE ENJOYS SOUND SLEEP FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

Konjola Completely Ended His Stomach Trouble and Restored Health in General

MR. G. W. POPHAM

"Besides ending my stomach trouble, Konjola has helped my nervousness so much that I enjoy sound sleep at night for the first time in years," said Mr. G. W. Popham, 16 Postle Ave., Newark, Ohio.

"My health troubles started with a disordered stomach and kept getting worse until I thought there would be no end to my suffering. After every meal I ate, my food would sour and ferment in my stomach. Terrible bloating spells and indigestion pains would follow. I suffered with pains around my heart and shortness of breath. I became so nervous that I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep, and every morning I would feel drugged and half-sick.

"Yes, Konjola has completely ended my stomach troubles and restored my health in general. I am glad to endorse such a medicine for I know what it will do."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sama Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

TRAFFIC LIGHT BIDS MADE PUBLIC TODAY

Crawford, Ind., Concern Turns in Lowest Offer for Center Type

The $3,000 provided by the finance committee of City Council for the purchase of traffic lights, figures submitted by manufacturers of lights and accepted by the Board of Control at a public hearing in the office of Mayor J. M. Hosen Saturday afternoon, range from $2,199 to $3,000.

The lowest bid of $3,000 for the center type was submitted by the Crawford Foundry Co., of Crawford, Ind., while its figure for the side arm type was $3,500. The Crowe, Hinds Co., of Rochester, N. Y., with a figure of $2,219 was the low bidder for the arm type. It submitted a bid of $3,121 for the center type.

The Railway Equipment Co. of Cincinnati asked $3,335 for the side arm type and $3,575 for the center type. The figures of the General Electric Co. of Schenectady, N. Y., were $3,372 for the center light and $3,962 for the side arm light while the Tuckheim Tank & Pump Co. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., submitted a figure of $3,159 for the center light and $3,567 for the side arm light. The bids provide for six lights. Extra costs would be $300 for the police flash feature and $500 for digging and repaving the street.

It is probable that more money will be asked of council with which to carry out the plan of installing the six lights.

Marion Physicians

Intimate Glimpses into the Lives of Members of Marion County's Medical Fraternity Revealed in Series of Interviews by Inquiring Reporter

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

STIRRING days when the late William Jennings Bryan put Lincoln, Neb., on the map, are easily and entertainingly recalled by Dr. M. B. Newhouse, who resides at 819 E. Center-st. and maintains his office at 142½ W. Center-st. While having no political aspirations for himself, his interest centered around the famous orator and a warm friendship which lasted until the death of Mr. Bryan, was fostered in the early campaign days when Dr. Newhouse was a country doctor in the little town of Hickman, and represented his district in political activities of the state. He is very proud of the fact that on seven different occasions he cast his ballot for Mr. Bryan.

Born at Magnetic Springs
Dr. Newhouse was born Jan. 15, 1885, at Magnetic Springs, the son of John and Rebecca McAllister Newhouse and was one of a family of 10 children. His early education was received in the country school and it was not until after his marriage that he "set up" in the general practice of medicine in which he has continued for a period of about 44 years.

Dr. Newhouse took his first course in medicine at the Ohio College of Medicine in Cincinnati and graduated in his profession in 1888 in the Medical College of Toledo. While commencement day was a great one for the young doctor it also gave him something to worry about in the way of transportation problems. In those days college boys couldn't thumb their way to their destination, it was either have the ready John D. in your jeans or walk and Dr. Newhouse didn't have the cash. He had been able to finance the transportation of his young wife and their three babies from Toledo where they had been doing light housekeeping during the term, to the home of her parents some distance away. But he was up against it for funds to get there himself. However, the problem was solved by a knowing professor who advanced the sum, which was less than five dollars, and Dr. Newhouse was soon with his family. When terms of the loan were discussed the professor preferred that it be paid back in "country butter" and the debt was canceled from the churn of the mother-in-law, who was more than willing to help the young family in getting established.

Practiced in Nebraska
Dr. Newhouse spent nine years

DR. M. B. NEWHOUSE

in practicing medicine in Nebraska and returned to Magnetic Springs where he might be near his mother in her declining years. Eighteen years ago he came to Marion, and although now past the milestones allotted to mankind is actively engaged in pursuing his practice of general medicine, in which he believes there is a great field, and also specializing in anaesthetics.

Dr. and Mrs. Newhouse on July 2, last year celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home here. Dr. Newhouse also attended the celebrations of three other golden weddings in the family during the year. He is a member of Epworth M. E. Church and is not affiliated with any fraternal organizations.

LINEUP FARM FIGHT ON BORER PROPOSAL

Hearings on Plan of Indiana
Man To Open Next Week

Washington, March 20—The mid-west congressional delegation was lining up today for a farm fight second only to the McNary-Haugen bill in the proposal of Representative Purnell, Republican of Indiana, to appropriate another $10,000,000 to fight the European corn borer.

Hearings are scheduled to begin next week before the House Agriculture Committee, with witnesses from the "corn belt" slated to appear on both sides of the question.

Denying reports that he would drop the measure in the face of opposition, Purnell declared that he would bring witnesses here to show an overwhelming sentiment for the fund.

"Some farmers have got the idea that the fund is to be used to purchase a lot of machinery and other equipment, when the bill is really intended to pay the farmers for the cleaning up work they must do to combat the borer," said Purnell.

Still In Menace
"The corn borer is just as much of a menace as it ever was, and witnesses will be here to show that the farmers want to blot it out."

The fight in committee against the bill will be led by Representative Thompson, Republican of Ohio, who also plans to bring in farmers and their spokesmen to declare that the corn borer scare was raised to get funds for the Department of Agriculture.

Opposition of northern Ohio farmers has already been presented to both committees on appropriation and agriculture, but a full hearing was decided on.

With farmers and local farm organizations hammering away on both sides of the question, American Farm Bureau officials here have thus far remained neutral.

INTEREST GROWING IN MEMORIAL PAYING

Concrete and Asphalt Considered as Material To Be Used in Work

Interest in the type of material to be used in the construction of Harding Memorial rd from Delaware-av to Vernon Heights-bld continues to grow as the time for a hearing on the project draws near.

While bids on both asphalt and concrete will be asked for, it has been the general supposition that the former will be favored by the commissioners and used in order to make the road conform with Delaware-av.

Doubts as to the wisdom of using asphalt, both from a financial and service standpoint, are being expressed by those who favor concrete construction. They point out that in addition to costing approximately $11,000 more than the concrete, the asphalt on a street where it will not be used any more than this stretch will be used, dries out and in a short time will crack and check. They point as an example of this, the spot of asphalt on Mt. Vernon-av near the Durfee addition which is seldom used and as a result has become cracked and checked.

The difference in the color of the two materials, which has been given as one objection to the use of concrete, can be overcome according to the county surveyor who says a color material can now be added to make the street any desired color. By this method it would be possible to make the concrete black to correspond with the asphalt on Delaware-av.

The hearing on the building of the road will be held by County Commissioners on March 23, and it is said by those interested, that they will probably be petitioned at this time to give serious thought to the use of concrete.

Engineers of street building, it is said, have expressed the opinion that asphalt, in order to be of the longest service, must be constantly used by heavy traffic to keep the surface pliable. When there is little or no traffic, the asphalt becomes hard and in a short time cracks appear and with water seeping in, the top gradually becomes checked and broken.

Marion County Board of Commissioners Serves as Supervising Authority of $90,000,000 Corporation

Editor's Note: This article opens a series of stories outlining and explaining duties connected with the various city and county offices and relating changes that have been made within recent years.

BY HARRY S. ELLIOTT

DUTIES and powers of boards of county commissioners in Ohio are defined in a record of legislative enactments covering 20 closely printed pages in the statute books.

WHEN CHILDREN FRET

It isn't right for the little tots to fret and they wouldn't if they had right. Constipation, headaches, worms, feverishness, bad breath, any of these will make a child fret. They need the pleasant remedy—

which occupy pages of print too numerous to estimate.

Needless to say, there is much of this which is more or less superficial, so that the whole might be better done into a comparatively few pages giving a general working nucleus of the commissioners' schedule of procedure.

It is so with practically all legislation, whether for regulation of county business or other public affairs. Legislatures, so it seems, have never attempted to use either a checkbook or steering wheel in their operations.

The volume of business handled by any board depends, of course, upon the size and enterprise of the county. Here in Marion County, the commissioners' office is becoming increasingly important year after year as the city of Marion grows and modern conditions add to the demand for high-grade public highways.

Road Work

With development of automobile traffic, in fact, county roads are no longer mere rural thoroughfares, enabling the farmer to get to town with his produce. These roads are in reality a part of the city street system, used as much by the city resident as by his farmer neighbor, possibly more.

Construction, maintenance and supervision of this roadway system has become the major duty of the Marion County Commissioners, so that the board's transactions are fully as important and interesting to city residents as to those in the rural districts.

It was not so in years gone by. There was a time when road improvements were secondary to ditch construction and as a consequence functions of the commissioners attracted comparatively little attention in the city.

500 Miles of Good Roads

Improved roads in Marion County now consist of a network totaling more than 500 miles, and this is being increased each year. In addition there are improved state highways in the county totaling more than 100 miles and townships are beginning to improve their thoroughfares.

The township road building program is of recent origin. Close to 20 miles are scheduled for improvement this year and the county commissioners will have partial supervision over the work, the cost being shared by county and township under a co-operative plan.

Township trustees, encouraged by assurance of help from the county, are planning a schedule which is expected to result in practically every county thoroughfare in the county being improved within comparatively few years.

$90,000,000 Corporation

The Board of Commissioners of Marion County might be designated as the supervising authority of a $90,000,000 corporation, for the county's tax duplicate at this time amounts to $90,321,920. This takes in property in the city of Marion, values for tax purposes at $50,167,730, and rural and village property, $40,154,170.

Under a new budget law passed several years ago, the commissioners have absolute control over all tax funds raised for county purposes. The total county budget this year is $983,373.34.

The new system provides that no money shall be spent in any county department or office until appropriations for the fiscal year have been appropriated in a resolution passed by the county board. The board's decision on the amounts appropriated is final with one exception. The county auditor has the privilege of appealing the county tax commission if dissatisfied with the allowance for his office.

Funds Limited

Appropriations are held within the agency of estimated revenue for the year, thus eliminating the possibility of any county department operating beyond its income. The same system is in use in all local governments, doing away with the danger of huge operating deficits accumulating as was the case a number of years ago before the budget plan became effective.

Every bill of expense in transaction of county business must be approved by the commissioners before payment is possible. The only exceptions are payments of salaries of elective officials and their employees. Officials' salaries are fixed by law and they are allowed to establish the pay of their employees as long as the total comes within the appropriations made by the commissioners.

All bills and contracts must be carefully checked to prevent inaccuracies and overpayment, this work falling chiefly on the clerk of the board, T. A. O'Leary, who also keeps up a voluminous typewritten record of all the board's proceedings.

3,500 Bills Annually

Bills submitted to the board for approval average about 3,500 annually and the number is increasing each year.

The board has supervision over the Courthouse, County Home, Children's Home, Jail and Detention Home. The commissioners have complete control over the cost of operating these buildings and institutions with exception of the Children's Home. There the management and payment of bills comes under a board of trustees, appointed by the commissioners.

The Board of Commissioners is a legislative body in only one respect, and that is in relation to public improvements. No improvement projects can be legal unless authorized by proceedings of the board.

This relates to roads, bridges, ditches, buildings and all other county property.

Improvements are granted only after detailed proceedings are carried out, giving all interested property owners every possible opportunity to file objections and make known their wishes.

Although the commissioners have authority to order any road improved by a unanimous vote, this power is rarely exercised. The rule almost invariably is to require a petition signed by at least 51 per cent of the land owners.

Good Drainage System

Marion County has one of the best and most complete rural drainage systems in the state of Ohio. There is very little land not provided with ditches at this time and as a consequence most of the ditch work now ordered by the commissioners is for reconstruction. This reconstruction work is extensive, however, as is shown in the record of the last 12 months, when ditch improvements totalled approximately 40 miles.

Bridge construction is not as extensive as in former years, most of that work now being repairs and maintenance. Marion County highways are provided generally with modern bridge structures, most of the old wooden spans having been eliminated.

Minor Duties

Included among the various minor duties of the commissioners is that of granting paroles to indigent prisoners in the county jail. The board has authority to do this in recommendation from the judge who sentenced the prisoner, the officer who made the arrest and the prosecuting attorney. This applies only to prisoners serving out fines and costs. Approximately a dozen were paroled last year.

The chairman of the commissioners also serves as a member of the county board of tax revision, which passes on applications for adjustment of tax valuations. Other members of this board are the county treasurer and county auditor.

Come From Farms

Marion County commissioners have, with few exceptions, always been elected from the rural districts. Their compensation at this time is a salary of $112.41 per month and an allowance of $5 a day for viewing routes of proposed ditches. This ditch allowance is limited to $600 annually, so that the maximum remuneration of a board member can not exceed $1,848.92 a year.

The present members of the board are O. W. Kinnaman, Prospect township, chairman, W. M. King, Richland township and O. J. Hord, Marion township.

Although three days each month are scheduled as the regular meeting dates of the county board, the members are actually in session most of the time for hearings and special discussions. The regular meeting days are the first and third Thursdays of the month, when general expense bills are allowed, and the first Tuesday after the first Monday, when the board visits the county home, passes on bills and attends to other matters relating to that institution.

FORMER PASTOR IS SPEAKER AT CHURCH

A. J. Koch, Chicago, Addresses Salem Evangelical Congregation

Education was the theme of the sermon given by Rev. A. J. Koch at the Salem Evangelical church last night. Koch, former pastor at the first church of the newly rebuilt Salem Evangelical church. Members of the church were present for the installation of officers of the church.

The program will be "Brotherhood Night"
and the program will be in charge of the church. The speaker will be Dr. William H. Chittenden, president of the National Brotherhood of Christians.

There is much in our generation which challenges us to more concerted action. We must present ourselves as a united front. The greatest heresy of our age is the refusal to take Jesus seriously.
Nevertheless Jesus Christ is a never fading teacher of humanity.

Scripture Lesson
William Lloyd, Sunday School superintendent, gave the scripture lesson and led in prayer. Miss Edna Koch sang as a solo number. "Closer to Thee" by Rolfe, and the Sunday School Orchestra played three beautiful numbers, "Ave Maria," "Mascagni,"
and "The Rose Tree."

The Sunday School at the present time has a membership of 142 pupils, and is divided into 14 classes. The school has contributed nearly $3,000 to the church building fund.

Officers, Teachers
Officers and teachers installed last night include William Lloyd, superintendent, Walter Hittenrauch, assistant superintendent, William Pfeiffer, secretary, Jacob Ebert, treasurer, William Keller, Robert Todd, librarians, Rosa Kull, Mrs. Florence Arnold, Mrs. A. A.

Eber, Mrs. L. A. Keller, Clarence
Pfeiffer, Mrs. Margaret Moffat, Mrs.
A. Schultz, Misses Valeria Todd, Lavita Kandler and Gladys Edelman,
teachers, Miss Evelyn Albrecht, teacher
and pianist, Mrs. Anna Hittenrauch, superintendent of the home department,
Mrs. Edna Hittenrauch, superintendent of the cradle roll department, Miss Grace Koenig, superintendent of the intermediate department, Miss Valeria Todd, superintendent of the primary department and Mrs. A. Schultz, superintendent of the junior department,
and members of the church council, William Belser, president, L. A. Keller, secretary, William Lloyd, vice president and treasurer, Charles Click, treasurer, and J. B. Schneider and Aaron Schultz, trustees. Rev. G. A. Kandler, pastor, presided as installing officer.

RISH DAMAGE SUIT BEING HEARD TODAY

Action Seeking $25,436.50
from Traction Line Comes Up in Local Court

Suit for $25,436.55, brought by Mrs.
May Rish against the C. D. & M.
Electric Co. for injuries alleged to have been sustained when an automobile in which she was riding was hit by a C. D. & M. car at the Newmarket crossing on Sept. 5, 1929, came up for hearing today before a jury in the Court of Common Pleas.

Her husband, John Rish, was killed in the same accident. He was driving a Ford sedan east on the Bethlehem road, with his wife as a passenger in the car.

Mrs. Rish asserts that houses and other buildings obscured the view to the north and that her husband was unable to see the interurban car approaching. His automobile became stalled, the petition alleges, in a depression in the roadway which was due to the C. D. & M. having raised one side of its track.

The law firm of Mouser, Young &
Mouser represents Mrs. Rish and W.
P. Moloney is attorney for the C. D.
& M.

Allegations Denied
All allegations made by E. W.
Boyer in his suit for $158.87 against
E. B. Borders are denied by the defendant in an answer filed today, in which he sets up a counterclaim for $50. He asks judgment for that amount. Both plaintiff and defendant base their claims on money alleged to be due on accounts. J. D. Williamson is attorney for Borders.

Marriage License
A marriage license was issued resulting to James Edward Sweetman,
35, musician, and Fern Juanita Bryan,
33, stenographer, Marion.

AUDITOR'S REPORT IS APPROVED BY JUDGE

Record Listing All Receipts
and Expenditures To Be Published Thursday

The annual report of County Auditor
Carl E. Thomas, listing in detail all receipts and expenditures of county funds for 1927, has been officially approved by Common Pleas Judge S. W.
Schofield and will be published in full Thursday.

The report classifies financial transactions of the county and all of its taxing subdivisions during the year.
Publication is required by law. In addition to appearing in the Marion Star, Thursday, it will be printed in next week's issue of the LaTee News.

TWO FROM MARION JOIN SCHOOL ORGANIZATIONS

Among the 215 Ohio University students inducted into 31 fraternities and sororities at Athens during the early part of the week were Miss May Nash and William Hamor of this city. This was the first time in the history of the school that two fraternities held initiation rites with one Greek, the result of a ruling recently laid by the Inter-Fraternity council.

Miss Nash, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nash, 217 S. High-st., became a member of Chi Omega Sorority,
and Mr. Hamor, who is the son of Mr.
and Mrs. R. S. Hamor, 413 Mary-st., became affiliated with Theta Chi fraternity. Both are graduates of Harding High School.

STUDENTS MAKE SCENERY FOR NINTH GRADE PLAY

Students of the ninth grade manual training class at Central Junior High School are this week engaged in making scenery for the ninth grade play,
"Penrod," to be presented at the school auditorium Wednesday Thursday and Friday of next week. The front and two sides of a house are being made by the boys to be used as a stage setting. Glenn Duffey is in charge of the making of shrubbery, grass and the fence to be used.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER
Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Krider, Likens Chapel-rd., entertained a number of guests at dinner Sunday night at their home. Covers were placed for Mr.
and Mrs. William Carnell, Mr. and Mrs. William Carnell, Jr., and children, Helen, Maxine and Betty. Mr.
and Mrs. James Bollinger and children,
Evelyn, Donna Jean and Melvin, Misses Mabel Carnell, Emma Linda and Edward Spears and Bert Wood, of Marion, and Robert and Bertha Mae Krider. The evening was spent socially.

LEO HUGHES TAKEN HOME
Leo Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hughes, residing west of Big Island,
who underwent a mastoid operation at City Hospital, 10 days ago, has been removed to the home of his parents.
He is reported to be recovering.

the championship.

WARING APPROVES OF SEWER INSPECTIONS

Chief Engineer of State Department of Health Changes Attitude After Conference

Inspection by saying it has been estimated that the Silver-storm water sewer was connected up with sanitary sewers being used by approximately 6,000 persons.

Present Plan
A system of inspection that will prevent wrong connections in the future
was pointed out by the state engineer
as the most vital need at the present time. A survey of wrong connections, he said, could be carried out throughout the summer, with the thought of making corrections probably next year,
but the inspection to prevent future wrong
connections should start at once.

He said he did not regard the conditions at the present time as alarming,
but they must not be made any worse.
He also suggested that after working two months, if it developed that the inspector has not accomplished as much as should be expected, a surveying firm
should be brought in and the survey cleaned up in 30 days.

Money to pay for such a survey as well as money to pay for the correcting of the cross connections, he said, could be obtained under the order issued by the State Board of Health a number of years ago, requesting a correction of the pollution of Rock Swale ditch. This order, he said, will be in force until the work is completed. Under this order, he pointed out the money could be appropriated without a vote of the people.

He suggested as a means of determining whether or not the connections were right, the placing of a quantity of dye in a sanitary receptacle in the bathroom and after flushing it into the sewer, make a check at the manhole in the street to determine in which sewer the colored water appears. Where there is but one sewer on the street, he said, nothing could be done toward making any corrections until a new sewer could be built.

Correction of cross connections, he said, would eliminate fully 75 per cent.
of the trouble. City officials who met with Engineer Waring were City Solicitor
George T. Brown, City Clerk S. H.
Keller, F. G. Gowan, superintendent at the disposal plant, Service Director O. A.
Benedict, S. G. Haldeman, Ralph
B. Good and L. E. Starr, members of the sewer committee of council, and Councilmen J. M. Schneider and R. E.
Pretzman.

BUILDING PLANNED AT 183 E. CENTER-ST

Cost of New Brick Structure
Placed at $13,000 in Construction Permit

Plans for construction of a one-story brick business building at 183 E. Center-st on a site now occupied by one of the oldest structures in the city were announced today by E. E. Bush, agent for the H True estate, owner of the property. A building permit taken out by Mr. Bush at the city clerk's office yesterday estimates the cost of the proposed new structure at $13,000.

Although planned for only one story,
the building will have a front of 24 feet
in height. Plans recently completed provide for one large store room and a basement 50 by 60 feet. The building will measure 50 by 60 feet.

Negotiations are under way which may result in the building being leased
for a branch store of a large out-of-town
mercantile concern, it was stated.

The building now occupying the site is said to be the residence of T. J. Magareid, pioneer Marion merchant.

Until recently it was occupied by the Standard Auto Wrecking & Parts Co., now located in the new building erected by Dr. R. C. Dugan, a short distance to the east on Center-st.

MARION PYTHIANS AT MEETING IN GALION

Thirty Members of Lodge No.
402, Guests; Team Confers
Degree

Thirty members of Marion Lodge No.
402, Knights of Pythias, visited Galion
last night and were guests of the Pythian lodge there. The Marion delegate conferred the rank of page on a class of candidates.

Following the lodge meeting, the Marion Pythians were entertained at a social session.

It was announced today that the local lodge has received an invitation to visit St. Mary's and confer the rank of page. The invitation has been accepted and the date will be announced later.

Marion Lodge will confer the rank of knight on a class of candidates at its regular weekly meeting, Friday night.

CONFERENCE SET
Marion, Morrow and Crawford County
Boards to Meet

Boards of commissioners and surveyors of Marion, Morrow and Craf-
ford Counties will meet in Bucyrus, Wednesday morning, to take the first step in proceedings relating to proposed construction of a ditch extending through territory in the three counties.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Christian Church Evangelist Talks on
"World's Greatest Teacher"

"Christ is the glory of the past, the life of the present and the hope of the future," said Rev. J. J. Tisdall of Man-field, evangelist, in his sermon, "The World's Greatest Teacher," at the well-attended revival service last night at Central Christian Church.

The sayings of Christ are unmatched in the annals of his ethical system, the sublimity of the truths he taught. The depth and breadth of his reasoning upon the highest of themes:
His logical clearness, his insight into the moral wants of mankind and his forever love for humanity are the standing miracles of moral wisdom from heaven, the shadowless light of God.

"All Christ ever said can be written in a 100 page book yet it is the library of the world. For 20 centuries those teachings have stood and not one iota
have the intellectual giants of the world added to or his teachings taken from them. The words of Jesus are like the light from heaven adapted to the morning and evening of the world. You can never get to the end of Christ's words
— they are eternal, for back of them
stand his personal character, life, death
and his love for men," Reverend Tis-dall said.

HIGH OFFICERS ARE DRAGGED INTO CASE

Coolidge, Harding, Smith, Mel-

favor-seeking class."

May Demand Hearing
There seemed little likelihood that the Senate committee would call Smith as a witness. There appeared a greater probability that Smith would demand
a hearing, whether or not he is subpoenaed. His connections with Sinclair will be aired thoroughly in the Senate
within the next few days.

The political developments far overshadowing the pending plans of the investigating committee, which resumes its hearings Wednesday morning, indicated upon the sensational story of a "mystery witness" that a package had been sent a high government official by an oil company official. One unofficial report traced the committee that the package only contained Chris-mas cards but there was no official verification of this.

Two witnesses were summoned for tomorrow. Wilbur W. Marsh, Democratic national treasurer in 1920, was called to reply to charges that he and the late Fred W. Upham, Republican treasurer, agreed to cancel all campaign contributions received during 1923.
Marsh has denied the story, told by two of Upham's secretaries, but he will be asked to make the denial under oath.

Call Sinclair Secretary
Meritt Baldwin, a confidential secretary to Sinclair from 1923 to 1924, also was subpoenaed. He will be asked to tell something about Sinclair's activities in 1923, when the oil man was turning over huge sums in Continental Liberty
Bonds to the Republican cause.

Meanwhile, another federal judge,
Chief Justice George B. Martin of the District Court of appeals, added his disturbance today that he had ever received a "package of Liberty Bonds" from any Sinclair source.

"I never received any bonds from or had any business dealings with Mr.
Sinclair or with anybody else connected with the Teapot Dome case," said Judge Martin.

SING AT REVIVAL

E. W. Harruff and Jesse Underwood
Present Duet at Church

E. W. Harruff and Jesse Underwood sang a duet, "His Name is Jesus," at the fairly well-attended revival service
last night at Calvary Evangelical Church. Rev. E. Hadebaugh, pastor, preached on the text, Matthew 3:16,
"And he saw the spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him."

"The Holy Spirit is spoken of as a dove, and the characteristics of the dove may be applied to the Holy Spirit," Reverend Hadebaugh said.
"Some of those characteristics are gentleness and a peaceable nature. The dove is very sensitive and will find a hiding place when a vulture comes near. There is a scriptural kind of sensitivity as imparted to us in the baptism of the Holy Spirit. Doves are careful in their fellowship, seeking companionship among their kind. So does the Christian when he is baptized with the Holy Spirit. A dove is pure, and the Holy Spirit is also pure and cleanses us. The dove sings a peculiar song of its own, so the Christian, and the world cannot imitate it, it doesn't sound the same."

INVESTIGATORS TO COME TO MARION

Nye Calls for Inquiry into Records and Estate of Late President

on Mr. Harding and as by Frank A.
Vanderlip four years ago has shimmered and spluttered, with nothing ever definitely brought to light. Mr. Vander-lip's investigators at that time and many others since, including the Publisher newspapers, have investigated and re-investigated, to have nothing but a trail of doubt, with never a word to clear up the shadow that is left by such smoldering fire of detectives' searchings."

Nye declared with emphasis tonight
that this investigation is to be no political muck raking expedition.

Will Settle Rumors
If it shows that none of the missing
Liberty bonds which figured in Sinclair's Continental Trading Co. deal was involved in Harding's estate, it is to be published, setting at rest recurring whisperings connecting Harding's
name with that deal.

If, on the other hand, any bonds
figuring in The Marion Star sale or Harding's other financial transactions are found to bear serial numbers like those which have been established as part of the Continental transaction, the executors of the estate and other witnesses are to be brought to Washington and questioned.

The committee decision to carry its inquiry into Harding's estate resulted directly from testimony given by Brush
before the Teapot Dome committee four years ago to the effect that Harding had invested $50,000 of his share of The Star sale in Liberty bonds, and that he owned a majority of another $103,000
which was invested by stockholders
of the paper in additional bonds.

Coming Here Soon
Nye determined on the investigation
to settle the former president's status.
"There has been a widespread and surprisingly insistent demand that the Senate committee re-investigate the circumstances attaching to the sale of The Marion Star," Nye said.

"In addition to this demand our committee has been charged with the duty of determining what became of $30,000
of bonds of Continental Trading Co.
bonds. We are still unsatisfied of what became of a large block of these bonds.
It is our duty to leave no stone unturned to fulfill the obligation that has been given us."

"Either the latter part of this month
or the first of next month we shall send committee investigators, not senators,
out to Marion to examine the estate and personal accounts of the late President Harding for the purpose of determining whether any of the $213,000 in bonds that are reported to have figured among the president's securities after the sale of The Marion Star bear the serial numbers of the Continental bonds."

"This is to be no muck-raking expedition. It is an unfortunate situation but it must be settled. We shall subpoena any witnesses until this investigation has been completed. If the investigation absolves President Harding's
name once and for all, we shall hasten
to make it known. On the other hand, if any of the missing bonds are found
it will be our duty to subpoena witnesses and go to the bottom of the whole affair."

Confidence in Harding
"No one can doubt that it will be for the best interests of the country to settle these always fertile sources of whispering and rumors once and for all."

Brush and Moore were in Washington last night on business which they said had no bearing on the committee investigation. When informed of the committee's intentions, Brush issued a statement which said in part:

"Whether the investigation pertains to the sale of Harding's newspaper, The Marion Star, or any other phase of Harding's public or private life, I wish that I might convince members of the Senate committee and the world at large of my entire confidence in the late president and the willingness of my

YOUNGEST SENIOR

Miss Thelma Johnson, 16, To Graduate
From Harding High

A card just placed in the index files
at Harding High School revealed the information that Miss Thelma Johnson, 218 Olney-st., will be the youngest student to graduate from Harding High School this year. Miss Johnson, who recently came here from Augusta, was 16 years of age last October. Previous information taken from the files before Miss Johnson's card was placed there, showed that Merritt Marshall, who was 18 years old in August, was the youngest High School senior.

SERIOUS FIRE PREVENTED BY TIMELY DISCOVERY

The timely discovery of a blaze at the rear of the room by a patrolman, prevented a serious fire at the Boston
Store on N. Main-st. early last night.
The fire started from an electric iron which had been left turned on, and which had crawled through the opening and filled the rear of the store with smoke.

The fire was discovered by the patrolman when he tried the front door shortly after 8 o'clock. He called the fire department and the blaze was put out with chemicals by firemen from Central and No. 2 Stations.

STOLEN GOODS REPORTED

According to a report made to the police by the management of the store
yesterday afternoon, clothing and cash taken by burglars who broke into the New National Store on W. Center-st., Sunday night included four women's coats, 10 dresses, 10 men's suits, seven hats, seven topcoats and 18 one dollar bills, taken from drawers in the display window; one 50 cent piece, two 25 cent
pieces and five pennies.

ELEVEN GO FORWARD

Eleven persons responded to an invitation to the altar at the revival service last night at the Nazarene
Mission, Bennett-st. Rev. Frank Maffin brought the message. Services continue at 7:30 o'clock every night this week, except Saturday.

MAN FINED $25, COSTS

R. P. Lightner, 45, arrested at Main and Center-sts. at 5:40 o'clock last night on an intoxication charge, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge W. A. Cline. Martin this morning when he pleaded guilty to the charge. It was Lightner's third appearance in court on a similar charge accounting for the unusual heavy fine. He is being held at police headquarters pending
payment of the fine.

Somebody has said that "rarity keeps photography a thriving industry," but looking at the pictures of some of the society people run in the rotogravure sections we can not help but believe that spite-work also has its effect.

Three aviators were killed when a plane crashed out at Wilmington, California, Sunday. Try as we may, we simply can not evade the suspicion that aviation is not yet a perfected art.

St. John Ervino says that "nothing is so disputable as the definition of fun." Still, he will have to admit that there's an awful diversion of opinion regarding what constitutes "having a good time."

Since the founder of a big London tobacco business died in 1911, members of his family have died and left estates, derived from the business, aggregating $100,000,000. If $100,000,000 represents the part of the business which didn't go up in smoke, imagine the magnitude of the part that did!

Three children were burned to death in Plattsburg, New York, when their mother left them at home to attend a public dance and their father was in jail for bootlegging. Neither young nor old escape the evils of the whisky serpent.

Four trains—two fast freights running north on one track and a fast freight and a passenger train running south on two other tracks with a track between the latter two—figured in a smash-up on the Pennsylvania railroad near Harrisburg, one day last week. Despite all the safeguards utilized by the railroad, the almost inconceivable will happen at times in this old world of ours.

Mayor Bill Hale Thompson's commission to select a proper United States history for use in the Chicago schools has chosen the "History of America" of Professor Russell Fish, of the University of Wisconsin, which the professor holds is "a regrettable honor" and a most untimely one, coming as it does at a time when he is confined to a hospital bed, following an operation, and unable to get about and defend his work.

Concrete Highway Markers.

The Lincoln Highway association is preparing to take what its officials believe will prove a forward step in the matter of road marking. Originally, the association painted its three characteristic colors upon telephone and telegraph poles and other objects, but the paint soon deteriorated and the colors grew dim. It then tried enameled steel signs attached to wooden posts, hoping that they would prove reasonably permanent, but the hope has proved a vain one. The officials explain that the steel signs stand up fairly well within corporation limits, but that, out in the country districts, the "ping" they return when struck by a bullet or stone is too alluring to hunters and boys, which results in their speedy detachment. In addition to this, the posts soon rot and were knocked over by reckless drivers or careless road maintainers.

This is it that the association has decided to replace the present steel signs with posts of reinforced concrete, each showing the tri-colored marker on its face and back and an arrowhead to designate the course. The plan is to have the posts of a design sufficiently simple to permit of successful and rapid casting and yet artistic and sufficiently ornate to beautify the highway. The posts, which are to extend about four feet above ground and three feet below, will be set back at the edge of the right-of-way to reduce the hazard of possible damage to them.

The matter of the design has been submitted to open competition which is to come to a close in the association's headquarters in the General Motors building in Detroit, May 1.

We are not directly interested in the Lincoln highway here, but we naturally are interested in anything which may prove an improvement in the way of highway markers. If the reinforced concrete post proves to be all that it is expected to be, we may want to use it in some of our highways in addition to the present federal and state markings.

$20,000,000 for a Fair Site.

Even though later expositions are called to mind, we believe it will be conceded that the city of Chicago put on the finest and most artistic world's fair of history. Assuming this to be true, it is evident that she proposes to surpass in 1933 the great exposition of 1893. Looking to this big event of five years hence, the trustees of the proposed "World's Fair and Centennial" celebration, have approved the general proportions of the preliminary sketch of the ground plans which call for the construction of an 800-acre island off the lake front and the possible construction of several smaller islands. This main island—possible smaller islands not being as yet fully considered—is to be completed by the middle of 1931 and given a full year in which to settle, leaving a year for the construction of buildings.

Other features disclosed in the report of the meeting of the fair trustees are a great lagoon, a stadium, a runway for aeroplanes and an anchorage for dirigibles. The report reads:

"A four and one half mile lagoon crossed by four permanent bridges will run between the island and the mainland.

"A stadium large enough to seat 35,000 people, to be situated on the west shore of the island and thus opposite Soldier's field, is suggested in the plans. The proposed stadium would face so as to command a view of the bulging stretch of the water course which will be wide enough for four eight-oared shells abreast of each other.

"A 'V' shaped runway, each side of which would be 3,100 feet long and 400 feet wide, and an anchorage pier for dirigible balloons are planned for the airport, proposed for the 800-acre island."

Some appreciation of the magnitude of the financial undertaking Chicago plans to take on may be had when it is stated that the cost of the construction of the 800-acre island alone has been estimated at $20,000,000.

In the light of the awful failure of the Philadelphia exposition, it is going to take a lot of courage on the part of her citizenship to maintain the city's slogan, "I WILL!"

"The people who know the most about life," says Buchanan Taylor, "are the members of newspaper editorial staffs." We don't know Buchanan, but we could guess, with both hands laid behind our back, where he has spent a part of his time.

Since reading how a baker, who in part supplied a restaurant run by him by carrying off edibles from the big Chicago hotel in which he worked, was found, when arrested, to have two chickens, a real loaf, a two-pound cake and a pound of butter concealed in his trousers, we have been wondering if Charlie Chaplin, among his other troubles, has lost that famous pair.

FLOWERS OF THE DUNE.

I think I'll put a sign upon the dune.
The seaward dune that dars the darkling tide.
Where there are gardens strange as the daff Moon
Grows in her pallid pride.
This sign shall say: "Sir Pilgrim, here are flowers:
Flowers that have loved the bitter, driven spray;
Wards of the gray wind and the bleak hours—
Oh, take them not away!"
Close to the dune they cling, and the gulls wing
Flutters them as she stoops and flows away;
It is mid-summer ere they have their spring.
Noon ere they have their day.
Crouched to the constant wind, and it so cold.
Do you not know a window where it peeps?
Do you not know O small frail flower of gold
A land where the winds cease?

I have my answer soon. I, too, have known
How dear a boon it is to love this place;
To rest so lonely and yet not alone.
And search her face.
The gull's wing it has brushed me in my dream.
The spume upon my lips was ancient wine.
While I forgot the valley and the stream—
Knowing the sea was mine.

Why Invite Death?

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Why is it that a woman will risk health and life itself for the sake of having a face or figure which she has determined is "beautiful?"

I may be mistaken, but I doubt if many persons are qualified to decide for themselves what is becoming to them. There are women who affect on all occasions a particular style in hats. To me they look like the Old Harry. With suitable headgear they would be pretty women. As it is—well, I decline to express an opinion.

Fat women buy furs, with the markings of the skins running horizontally. Skinny women have the markings running up and down. You don't need to be a student of optics to know that in each case the offending lines of the figure are made more pronounced.

The latter the woman, the more determined she is to leave the upper arms and shoulders bare. Why not have the dress made to fall over the shoulder and to cover the upper arm? Attractive dresses can be made without giving emphasis to individual defects.

The trouble about the whole business is that women—and men, too—see a model garment draped on a apple-like figure; it looks well and the poor, misguided mortal, unwarned by the sales person, orders one "just like it." The chances are it is no more suited to the buyer than an elephant's trunk would be to the family cat.

The prevailing styles in skirts have brought women's knees into the picture of life. Now there is more to worry about. Straight legs must be had at all costs. How-legs and knock-knees have become a social evil.

Beauty doctors have been busy "lifting faces" and flattening projecting ears, but now they must relieve mental agony by straightening the legs. What next?

Why? What is it all about?

When will people learn that beauty is only skin deep? Some of the homeliest women I ever saw married men of acknowledged good looks and unquestioned brain development. Somehow or other they attracted and continue to hold the affection and devotion of good-looking men.

In my opinion, a beautiful "dumb-bell" is a dumb-bell still. She may have a straight nose, shell-like ears, coral lips, marvelous curves and perfect legs, but if she is a dumb-bell she can never hold the devotion of a husband, no matter how "crazy" he was about her during the flaming courtship.

Think of that pathetic case where the Chicago girl lost both legs. For the sake of realizing her own dream of what should be her possession, she submitted her body to knife and saw and chisel. It makes me shudder to think of it.

To my eyes the most wonderful and appealing, the most magnetic of all beauty, is the beauty of abounding health. Let a woman order her life in such manner that her blood is red with the colors given by fresh air and proper food. When she does this there is no rouge from pot or tube that can rival Nature's painting of lip and cheek.

Eyes sparkling with good nature and animation will overshadow every defect of nose and chin. Erection of figure, fullness of chest, springiness of gait and eager feet, will more than recompense for any departure from the "perfect figure."

Let's have an end of this nonsense of depending on the surgeon for beauty. Honest beauty is within the reach of every person who will observe the rules of correct living.

There is more than one kind of speed due to the motor car. The manufacturing business in various lines—the making of things from harvesters to collars—has been speeded up by methods learned from motor car makers. Small motor cars, clicking out like clock-work, have taught manufacturers the world over a new way to speed up production.

What wonders might be accomplished if we had the desire and the intelligence to manage our time and our energy aright? In Pittsburgh not long ago a man and woman danced sixty-two hours and fifty-five minutes without stopping. Fancy what might have been achieved with that same energy, directed by intelligence!

Too many don't make law-breaking easy and a habit. There are too many trivial laws and too little concentration of obedience to fundamental laws of behavior. Michigan sets a good example by taking off the speed law and demanding that folks drive "with care."

Good sense is better than bad laws.

If we are to have better labor conditions in America there must be an increase of the spirit of give and take. Demand for the five-day work week has been made in many quarters this year. Employers, many of them, would not greatly object to the five-day week if they were not expected to pay the same wages they have been paying for a six-day week. Labor wants the high wage and the short week both. There is call for much reasonableness on both sides.

The kind of thrift which is mere miserliness helps nobody. There was much of that in Europe before the war, and much now. Over there folks are learning something about spending. They learn largely from America. It is not mere saving that brings prosperity. Wise saving and spending is what the industrial world needs.

Julius Barnes, vice president of the International Chamber of Commerce, student of business conditions abroad, says the experiment of high wages in America is teaching Europe how to create a new and greater market of buyers.

Editorial Opinion.

REPEAL THE PULLMAN SURCHARGE.

It is high time that all luxury taxes put into force as wartime revenue measures were repealed. Some have been. Of those that remain there is none more burdensome than the fifty per cent. Pullman surcharge. It is a penalty on passenger travel and is estimated to cost the railroads more than they get from it. It is the only wartime surtax that has not been repealed. The bill now pending in congress to do so should be passed without delay.

It is a heavy burden on business activity. It is being opposed by the National Retail Dry Goods association and by the National Association of Commercial Travelers, which numbers almost 1,000,000 members. It should be wiped off the statute books. When travelers have paid the regular passenger fare and the regular Pullman fare there is no justice in compelling them to pay an additional fare of one-half the Pullman rate.

It was originally intended to be a deterrent to travel in wartime so as to leave more railroad facilities available to the government. Congress enacted the law authorizing the surcharge at the request of the director general of railroads. There no longer being need of such restriction of civilian travel, there no longer is occasion to continue the wartime measure to restrict it. This is common-sense reasoning. Of course, the carriers will lose their share of it, but they would benefit quite as much by the additional travel that would be encouraged. Yet, whether they would or not, the reason for its creation having ceased, it, too, should cease.

The removal of this surcharge has been recommended by Examiner Keeler, of the Interstate Commerce commission. Acting on his report, six of the commissioners held the surcharge to be unreasonable. But because two of the six favored a reduction only, no final action has been reached. However, as the surcharge is not a rate authorized for revenue to the roads, but an enactment to penalize civilian travel when train accommodations were needed for troop movements, it is a thing the commission has no authority over, but congress only, and it is for congress to repeal it, the cause for its imposition no longer existing. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

Time and Place.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICES.

The true measure of time is given to us by the stars, and this is the way they do it: As the earth turns on its axis from west to east, the stars seem to move round the heavens in the opposite direction. You see a certain star exactly on the meridian—i. e., the north-and-south line. As the earth turns, carrying you round eastward, the star seems to move round westward, and when the earth has brought you once around, like a merry-go-round, you see the same star come back to the meridian from the east—just as if it were a pretty girl standing in the crowd and still there when the merry-go-round brought you again opposite to her.

Now, that apparent coming back of the pretty girl—or, rather, the star—to the meridian measures the time the earth takes for one turn on its axis, which we name a day. For convenience, we divide it into twenty-four hours, and then divide the hours into minutes and the minutes into seconds. This particular measure of time is a "stellar day"—because we have used a star, stella. The day measured by the sun is slightly longer, but the stellar day is the true standard.

Now, let us see how to use the time given to us by the heavenly bodies to find where we are on the earth.

Suppose a squad of Boy Scouts in an unknown region wish to locate their camp on a map. The first thing is to find their meridian, or noon line. The magnetic compass is not accurate enough for that. The pole star would help them at night, if they knew just when it was on the meridian. But they can find out what they want with the aid of the sun in the daytime, thus:

Take a large, smooth board, like a drawing-board, and insert in it a thin straight peg, standing exactly perpendicular. Around the peg, at various distances, draw a series of circles. Then set the board, carefully levelled, out in the sunshine, and, say an hour or so before noon, begin to watch the shadow of the peg. It slowly shifts around from west to east as the sun moves from east to west. When the end of the shadow touches one of the circles, mark the spot.

The shadow will also get shorter, and when it is shortest it will lie on the meridian, and the time will be local noon. But it is difficult to tell exactly when it is shortest, and the best way is to keep on watching the shadow after noon. When its point again touches the circle it touched before noon, mark that spot, too, and from it draw a straight line to the spot marked before noon. Then, from the center of this line, draw one to the center of the peg, and that will be the meridian.

Having found their meridian, the boys may get their longitude by first setting their watches carefully to some standard meridian, say the seventy-fifth meridian, which is the basis of Eastern standard time and runs a little east of Philadelphia. Having set their watches by the signals from Washington, the boys watch to see when, by the watch time, the sun is exactly on their meridian line which they have marked as before described. Suppose their watches mark at that instant 12:20 o'clock. That tells them that the sun crossed the seventy-fifth meridian twenty minutes before it reached their meridian. Therefore, they must be situated, in time, twenty minutes west of the seventy-fifth meridian.

Now, the sun takes twenty-four hours to go once around the earth, an angular distance of 360 degrees, wherefore it must go fifteen degrees in one hour, so that in twenty minutes, which is the third part of an hour, it must have gone five degrees. The boys' camp is thus found to be situated five degrees west of the seventy-fifth meridian. But in the northern part of the United States one degree of longitude equals fifty-two or fifty-three miles, so that five degrees correspond to some 260 or 265 miles.

Before the boys could put their camp on a map, however, they would have to know their latitude also. This could be found, perhaps, most easily by observing the elevation of the pole star. The elevation of the true pole is always equal to the latitude of the place of observation, but the star is a little more than a degree from the pole, so that observations for latitude must be corrected by means of the Nautical almanac, which tells when the star is above and when under the true pole.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

A Story of Love and Adventure

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

CHAPTER 53
"Faith! Oh, God! With hypocritical regret Chen-shu had explained that, though a berth in the cabin was offered to her, she had refused it and had slept on the deck. Bob Kingsley's teeth bit into his lips. A cabin shared with Chen-shu and Java Dick! She would have thrown herself overboard first! Thank God they had not driven her to that! But Chen-shu was too crafty to go to extremes until the moment came when he could do so with the certainty established that he risked nothing thereby. Chen-shu was fully convinced that in so far as Luaua and the creek at Luaua were concerned, he, Bob Kingsley, had told the truth, since in these two particulars anything but the truth would have been at once apparent; but for the rest, though Chen-shu might believe in the details of the burnt tree and the flat rock, he had no means of knowing whether he had been tricked or not. Chen-shu would first make sure of that, while Luaua was still a hostage to force the truth if an untruth had been told. That was all, until the treasure was actually found, that stood between him, Bob Kingsley, and death—all that stood between Luaua and worse than death.

After the treasure was found, the end would come. There was just one hope left, a slender one, like the catching of the proverbial star. It depended first on the fact that the schooner, being little better than a derelict, had probably been laid up somewhere when Java Dick had got hold of her, and that her equipment had either run to seed or been stolen. Her rigging was rotten, her canvas was worse, and nothing in years had ever apparently been renewed. The wonder was that she was left with even one boat, which was all she had. That was the first point. It might not be very seaworthy, and probably wasn't, but there was only one boat. The second point was that, where before this had brought him added anxiety, he now counted on Captain Scarface being at Luaua.

For three days now, since he had first satisfied himself that there was but one boat, he had buoyed himself up and fought back despair with a bitter determination to cling to what might in the end be only an illusion, but which, meanwhile, held out at least a glimmer of hope. The boat would not hold many. It was certain that both Chen-shu and Java Dick would go ashore; and it was almost equally certain that Luaua and himself would be taken along—there would be room, then, for no more than three or four of the crew at the outside. The odds in that case would be in Captain Scarface's favor—and Captain Scarface might be able to effect a rescue.

A slender hope. He had never ranked it otherwise. Luaua and he might not be taken ashore in the boat, and, even if they were, Captain Scarface might have gone, or might not see them, or might not bring about anything, but disaster, perhaps even to himself, in a fight that might take place. Or perhaps Captain Scarface's schooner itself might be seen unless it was anchored behind some headland, and Chen-shu would become wary and reconnoiter before he made any move at all. Not much to count upon! Not much—when it meant Luaua's life!

But that was for to-morrow—the end, whatever it might be, would not come now until tomorrow. It was already within an hour of sunset, and even if a freeze sprang up, of which there was neither sign nor likelihood, there would be no landing on Luaua tonight.

An hour till sunset—and the sun was still merciless in its blazing rays! It would be a relief when it went down—and a relief not only on account of the heat, but because of the day of abomination aboard the schooner, the worst of all the four; a day that must have been one of naked awfulness for Luaua. At no time since leaving Singapore had there ever been anything but the merest pretense of discipline; but to-day, both because of inactivity and the proximity of Luaua that was to satisfy the drama of greed and gold of those aboard, even that pretense was more. From the first, Java Dick had not drawn a sober breath; today he was a sotted brute, mouthing and bawling coarse oaths, scarcely able to stand upon his feet. From the first, there had never been any regular watches kept, for the crew had been more ardently employed in stinking up their quarters with opium, and, so that some were left to sail the vessel, it had mattered nothing to Chen-shu if the rest lay senseless in their bunks; today there was no sailing to be done, only Luaua to stare at with rapacious eyes through the heat haze—and to their drugs they too had added drink, and the deck had been the scene of unbridled orgies and brawls in which knives had more than once played a part—and this was still going on, though in a lesser degree, for here and there a sprawled figure bespoke the fact that some were already in a state of stupor. Even Chen-shu, who up to now had shown no signs of excessive dissipation, was becoming less abstemious, the secret lust within him perhaps too great to overcome in the face of idleness and a unanimous example. An hour ago when Chen-shu had stood near-by, there had been a looseness about the man's lips, a dullness in his eyes, but not only told their own story, but made Chen-shu even more repulsive in appearance than usual, if that were possible. Pray God, the night hide these sights from Luaua! Pray God, the darkness bring an end to them!

He raised his head suddenly at the sound of Java Dick's voice. Java Dick and Chen-shu were standing over the prostrate form of Minder Singh along the deck there. The words reached Bob Kingsley distinctly.

"He doesn't look like he was going to last!" proclaimed Java Dick sententiously; and then, with a drunken leer: "And him almost in sight of that treasure he was setting his heart on seeing! Too bad there weren't no wind today so we could have got there before he croaked and he could be died happy! Too bad we're stuck out here and can't move. Gawd, ain't it tough!"

And then, as though born out of sudden, ugly inspiration, Chen-shu smiled wickedly.

"Your words, O Java Dick, have fallen upon compassionate ears!" he answered. "That which one who is near death so greatly desires, he should be assisted to attain; and while yet a little strength remains to him how better could he use it than in the hope that, by means of his last exertions, he may yet be in time to satisfy with his eagerly straining eyes the craving of his soul? And so it shall be done, and what aid we can give him shall be freely his."

Bob Kingsley stared along the deck, his lips suddenly tightened. Java Dick was blinking owlishly, and lurching unsteadily upon his feet; Chen-shu was calling shrilly, giving rapid orders in Chinese to the crew. What devil's play was the man up to now?

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

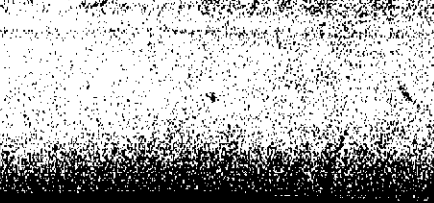

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails. —Adv.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, and it was still coldish and cloudy. When I had let Jubilee down and had fixed the dres and took out the ashes, which blew all over the neighborhood. I went in the barn and most of the bunch had already got there.

Feeble said she thought she would go in the house and tell my mother what lovely strawberry preserves she put up, and if she done that I would get a licking and she knew it. I was just going to tell her what I would do to her, when the hole in the ally slid open and Nibs came crawling in like a wounded snake. One of his eyes was swollen almost shut and his nose was swollen up and his upper lip stuck out over his mouth like the roof to a shanty. We all asked him what had happened to him, and he said he had thought maybe if he snuck off by himself and laid for the Lost Bag of Tripe maybe he could catch him. The Lost Bag of Tripe's mother had sent the Lost Bag of Tripe to the store and Nibs had chased him. The Lost Bag of Tripe had ran in the backyard to the store thinking the back door would be open and he could get in there, and when he got there the back door was locked and he couldn't get anywhere. Nibs had followed him in the yard, and the yard is only about as big as a box stall, and Nibs said he had him just where he wanted him and the only way he could get out was over his dead body.

Then Feeble spoke up and said, "I see he went out all right," and all Nibs could say was, "Aw, you think you're too smart." The Lost Bag of Tripe certainly went out. Nibs looked out a circus procession had went out over his body.

When we saw the Lost Bag of Tripe at school all he had was a shinned ear. A kid that gets another kid in a corner where he can't get out to run is not so very bright. I said to him, "So you had a fight this morning?" He said "He? Who with?" I said, "Nibs?" He said, "Oh, that's so. I had forgotten!" Nibs was so mad he started to go for him, but the Lost Bag of Tripe didn't run, so Nibs changed his mind. Then the Lost Bag of Tripe began to strut his stuff all over the school yard, and he said to the bunch that he was going to take them down to the lake shore after school. I asked him who he thought he was, and he said he was the captain of the bunch, and he stuck out his chin and I stuck out mine. He made a pass at me and I ducked, then I sent my right up past his nose and when he put up his guard I brang my right around over his heart and when he lowered his guard I hung my left on his nose, and he said, "Aw, you can't ever take a joke!" I said, "I can take you, any time, and you are a joke." Then the bell rang.

"The bunch may have another captain, but not yet."

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN KOWLAND

REAL love is almost as hard to find, and as surprising when you find it as the first arbutus under the snow.

If the average man would put half the energy and brains into doing something fine, something useful or something brilliant that he puts into doing something "slick," he would be hailed as a genius.

The only drawback to a perfectly good, home-broken husband, is that he never gives a woman's imagination a chance to work, or affords her the luxury of feeling sorry for herself.

What the predatory female can't understand is, that the same feminism which gave her the right to say "Let's get married, Big Boy," also gave the predatory male the right to say, "No thanks, darling!"

Nowadays, the shortest distance between two points appears to be that between a man's first kiss and his last.

The average woman is so sensitive, that she can feel her husband's eyes boring right through her new hat to the price-tag inside the lining.

A woman marries a man to "save him from himself," but a man always marries a woman to "save her" from some other man.

Sending a woman candy, these days, is an awfully subtle way of complimenting her on her figure.

The modern man's love-making has become so standardized and so mechanical, that a girl automatically reaches for an imaginary button when she wants to tune off his attentions.

Love and war alike in this. One conquest merely stirs up your blood and kindles your enthusiasm for another.

For orchestra use a harmonica has been invented that is connected to a horn of considerable length to amplify its music.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Locked Contains a Message

"I seemed hours to me, although in reality it was but a few minutes, that I sat watching Lillian as she ran her fingers over the jewels of the costly miniature case which Eleanor Lincoln had guarded so carefully and so secretly, but which she had dropped in the excitement following the news of her 'Aunt Anna's' dangerous illness.

I could not rid myself of the idea that we were doing something dishonorable in thus prying into the secrets of our young neighbor, and my distaste must have shown to my face, for when Lillian finally looked up baffled by the delicate mechanism which she believed held the key to a secret compartment, her eyes began to blaze angrily, while her verbal protests held equal terrors.

"If you'll just put a coating over that thin epidemic of yours," she said, "you'll oblige me greatly. Have you any idea that I'm relishing this snooping any more than you are? Didn't I tell you that perhaps this girl's very life may depend upon our finding out who she is and what she's up to? And more than that, in some way—I can't yet get the connection, but it will come to me—there's something more important than any one life which may depend upon my getting any information which is lying around loose. So for the love of Lizzie the Second, do come down to earth, wipe that shocked look off your map and help me."

She had worked herself into good humor—her rages generally ended that way, and she ended her tirade with a short little laugh.

"I am ashamed," I said contritely. "And I promise you, I won't offend you any more, by word, look or thought. How's that?"

"Couldn't be spoken blunderer," she said. "Now take this thing and see what you can do with it. My fingers seem all thumbs, somehow."

I took the case again in my hands and with the aid of the magnifying glass scrutinized the circular line which we both believed marked the opening of a circular disk in the back of the case.

"Of course, one of the jewels holds the spring," Lillian commented, "but which one, and in what way?"

"We'll have to eliminate, I fancy," I said, and using the magnifying glass to guide me, I pressed each separate jewel with the tip of my finger, and when that failed, I took the head of a pin and inserted it carefully beneath each jewel, pressing each from every possible angle.

And then at last I felt a ruly—the largest of all the stones, against which I had pressed a dozen times—move ever so slightly. I did not need to increase the pressure. The center disk whose existence we had guessed snapped open, revealing a cavity beneath, small, of course, but sufficiently large to hold a tiny packet of the thinnest paper manufactured.

"Ah-h!" Lillian breathed, and as I looked across at her I saw her eyes gleaming with excitement and something more—the zest of the chase which is always here, and which makes her so successful in her government work.

With infinite pains I extricated the tiny packet of paper, while Lillian rose and shut the windows that no possible draught might blow it out of our reach. Then laying the packet to one side and covering the table with a white cloth, I unfolded the tiny pad of paper, memorizing as I did so the exact manner in which it had been folded. When it was all spread out before me, and I saw the queer black marks with which it was covered, I could not repress a gasping little cry.

"Lillian!" I exclaimed. "Look at these! Don't you remember?"

HEALTH HINTS

For Parents

What mother would give her ten-year-old daughter a drink of whiskey for a cold? Then don't drug your child when their bowels are out of order!

Investigate the remarkable properties of the syrup, mother! It is a purely vegetable product that leads a boy or girl out of constipation, and away from all need of cathartics. California Fig Syrup is, in fact, a most marvelous body-builder. A weak, pale girl whose organs are quickened by this delicious, fruit syrup will amaze you by her easier study and harder play—in only a couple of weeks! Or your boy will start to fill-out and take on heightened color in the same time! And a million mothers know what a few drops of fig syrup do for an ailing infant.

California Fig Syrup is utterly harmless, of course. The one need for caution is to get the real California product. Say "California" and get the genuine; the generous bottle is only sixty cents at all dealers. So it isn't expensive!

Try California Fig Syrup two weeks on any child, and let his altered appearance and actions tell the full story! —Adv.

Sport

HIGHWAYS
and BYWAYS

BY KARL R. MELROY

SHOULD a sport page be devoted entirely to boosting or to criticism in an effort to secure better and cleaner sport?

This question arises today following the second boxing show of the Marion Eagles' Lodge in their hall on W. Center-st. The gym was filled to its capacity.

After the first show presented here I criticized the type of boxing on the card, not that I wished to antagonize the lodge in itself but to protect the best interests of fans.

Those who were lucky enough to get seats last night after seeing the first show can testify as to the difference in the two cards.

Last night's show can be truthfully called a real good exhibition, clean all the way through. We feel no though the attitude of The Star towards sports and towards boxing in particular had much to do with the better class of boxing.

As long as the Eagles Lodge continues to put on good cards they can be assured of wholehearted support on this page. But on the other hand if the success of one or two cards makes the Eagles indifferent in their matchmaking they cannot expect support.

It is my attitude that boosts and criticisms should be handed out just as the occasion demands.

TURNING away from the boxing situation in Marion to New York we find Tex Rickard preparing to announce a challenger for Tunney's crown within the next few days.

At the same time Tex says Gene will fight once this year and that Dempsey is out of the picture. We have heard that before.

DUNDIE TO FIGHT

New York, March 20—Joe Dundee will defend his welterweight title against Art Hicklin at Madison Square Garden here either on April 30 or May 4. These tentative dates were set by matchmaker Jess McManis after Dundee and his manager, Max Waxman, had been reinstated by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Doyle Defeated By Tremaine In Great Battle

500 Fans Attend Fight Show Here

Toledo Fighter Pleases in Spite of Lacing Received from Columbus Boxer; Harold Williams, Marion, Wins Match with Louie Haines

BY KARL R. MELROY
Sports Editor

Although nerve and ability to take punishment may not win fights, it was these two qualities that put Spotsy Doyle across with Marion fans last night on the main go of the Eagles' boxing card.

Before more than 500 fans Doyle, a member of Eddie Mack's stable of boxers hailing from Toledo, was given a severe beating at the hands of Clyde Tremaine, Columbus, after eight rounds of honest-to-goodness fighting.

Doyle put every ounce of effort available into the match but was out-generaled by the Columbus fighter. He lacked ring experience but with the fighter's heart which he showed last night it will be but a short time before he will be able to give the best of them a great battle.

Painful Attitude

Tremaine's attitude in the fight was a bit too painful to most of the fans although it is admitted that he gave a great exhibition. As a matter of fact he was compelled to or take a chance on losing to the plucky Toledo lad.

With the exception of the third and seventh which were even, Tremaine won six rounds. However, Doyle carried the fight all the way in face of defeat and for his trouble received cheers from the fans and a cocky smile from Tremaine. Doyle, by the way, was substituted for Harold Knapp of Toledo due to the latter's illness. Clyde weighed in at 122 while Doyle scaled at 120.

The curtain raiser found Harold Williams, Marion, winning over Louie Haines of Toledo, in six rounds. Although having many things to learn about ring technique, the local boy possessed a nice punch and a willingness to batter away at his opponent. At the start of every punch he had the famous old Dempsey weave. The fighting was very close with Haines losing rounds by just a shade. They tipped the scales at 142 pounds.

Baldwin Wins

By taking the fifth and sixth rounds, Sailor Baldwin of Toledo defeated Pete Pando of Columbus in the six round semi-final even. The Columbus boxer was substituted for Ray Snyder, Marion.

The first three rounds were even while Duado took the fourth. Both fighters were evenly matched but the Columbus mauler seemed to be afflicted with the "corner-complex" which got him into trouble on several occasions.

The battle royal between two colored men of Toledo developed into a tug-of-war with fans still wondering who won. Roy Abel handled the first two fights and Paul Costner the main go.

DAIRIES WILL PLAY INDIANS AT LA RUE

Local Team To Close Basketball Season Tonight Against Strong Team

Isaly Dairy cagers will end their season tonight when they play the World Famous Indians at La Rue. The Indians have just returned from a successful road trip, winning 64 games out of 72 played.

The contest will be played in the La Rue High School gym and will be the first and last appearance of the Indians there this season.

Although defeated in Star Auditorium earlier in the season by Isaly, the Indians are planning to gain revenge. Their team has shown much improvement as a result of their road campaign. The local team will use its regular lineup.

Training Camp Briefs

NURSE INJURIES

New Orleans, March 20—Three Cleveland regulars today were nursing injuries received in Monday's practice session. Shortstop Joe Sewell was hit in the face by a batted ball and sustained a split lip. Gob. Buckeye and Joe Shante, pitchers, were hit on the foot and both will limp for a day or two.

PITCHING STRONG

Tampa, Fla., March 20—Although their hitting strength remains uncertain, the Brooklyn Robins are as strong as ever in pitching. Clark, Elliott and Ehrhardt had little difficulty in subduing the Phillies, 3 to 1, at Winter Haven yesterday. Today the Robins will take on the Senators here.

OPPONENT FOR GENE IS BEING CONSIDERED

Only One Fight, Says Tex; Heenev Being Favored Over Risko

New York, March 20—Speculation as to the identity of Gene Tunney's next ring opponent was the leading topic of discussion in athletic circles today. While Tex Rickard announced following a conference with Tunney in Miami Beach, Fla., yesterday that the champion would defend his title only once this year, he said that he could wait for several days before naming the challenger.

Most of those qualified to judge, including Tunney, believe that his plume will fall to Tom Heenev. Supporters of Jack Sharkey, however, quote Com. Missioners Farley and Muldoon of the New York State Athletic Commission as saying that the Boston fighter should have been given the decision over Heenev on a round-by-round score and should have had no worse than a draw with Johnny Risko. But Risko, outpointed Sharkey and therefore does not lack supporters.

Lined-in-the-wool Dempsey enthusiasts still think the former champion will be Tunney's opponent, despite Rickard's assertion yesterday that Jack is through.

The New York Boxing Commission, in notifying Tunney yesterday that he must name his next opponent by day after tomorrow made no distinction between Heenev, Sharkey and Risko.

Rickard said the fight would be held early in July, probably in New York. The polo grounds here are available for boxing at that time.

Latest developments indicate there will be no final elimination with Heenev and Risko as the principals.

KENTON REDS WILL CLOSE SEASON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Professional basketball in Kenton will draw to a close Wednesday night when the Kenton Reds play the World Famous Indians on the armory floor there.

Two preliminary contests will precede the game, the first starting at 7:15. The Reds are planning to take care of a record crowd for the season.

Marion Hicklin of Marion will referee.

PICKS WINNERS

Babe Ruth Names Yanks and Cards for Pennants

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20—Babe Ruth, who has enjoyed unusual success in picking pennant winners in past years, hands-picks the 1928 big league races as follows:

National—Cardinals, Pirates, Giants, Cubs, Reds, Braves, Robins, Phillies.
American—Yankees, Athletics, Senators, Tigers, Indians, White Sox, Red Sox, Browns.

SIX TEAMS TO OPEN COUNTY CAGE MEET

First Battle Slated for 7 O'Clock Tonight on Y. M. C. A. Court

Six teams entered in the annual Marion County amateur basketball tournament sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. will take the floor tonight in the first round of the meet. Games will be played at the "Y."

Two Class B teams will be the first to take the floor when Central and Waldo clash at 7 o'clock. Both of these teams are evenly matched.

One of the best games of the tournament should be the second at 8 o'clock between Butler Aces and Harding Hi-Y. The Aces are well known in Marion while the Hi-Y team is composed of many high school players.

The final game will find teams outside of Marion playing. Martel Lion Tamers will try for a victory over La Rue Athletics.

Compton and Griffin will referee the games.

GIANTS WORRIED

Fort Myers, Fla., March 20—The New York Giants are very much worried over the continued absence of Vic Aldridge, holdout pitcher, as some of the younger hurlers are not coming up to expectations. Walker and Clarkson were given a sweet pasting by the Athletics yesterday, but the Giants finally hammered out a 9 to 5 victory. The teams play here again today.

Among American colleges New Hampshire University stands at the top in skating, ski-jumping and other ice and snow sports.

M'FARLAND LEADING "Y" HEADPIN MEET

American Legion and Wheeler's Win National League Matches on Alleys

McFarland is leading headpin bowlers today after rolling in the Y. M. C. A. tourney which opened last night. He scored 112 pins. Koons was second high with 109.

In National League matches Wheeler's team defeated Hoffelinger's three straight games while the American Legion was swamping Lattimore's. The scores:

TOWNSEND REAPPOINTED

Columbus, March 20—H. R. Townsend, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, has been reappointed. He has served three years, leaving Hamilton where he had been principal of Hamilton High for nine years.

Earl Smith and Johnny Gooch are back to do the catching. This means that they are satisfactory to Bush, although some critics feel that this position represents a possible weakness.

The staunch left side of the Pirates, represented by Glen Wright and Pie Traynor, will remain, perforce, as is Joe Cronin, at present in his home town here, will be carried for utility roles.

That outfield, now that Cuyler has gone his unlamented way, also is a predetermined affair, at least in two positions. They are those occupied by the Wauers, Paul and Lloyd. For the other spot, Clyde Barabart, 1927 regular, is having a merry battle with Adam Comorosky, back again from Wauers Comorosky, back again from Wauers and Swogersville, Pa.

San Francisco, March 20—Pretty much pre-determined in personnel before ever the club left Pittsburgh for its spring conditioning at Paso Robles, the champion Pirates, exhibiting in this city today, are a natural stand-out in National League company. Even the four successive defeats they suffered at the Yankees' hands in the world series and the five straight reverses their own Xanigans handed them this spring have failed to dissipate the impression that Donie Bush's club will run no worse than one-two at the end of the season.

Barring Kiki Cuyler, who sat on the bench for most of the 1927 season, the Pirates lost nothing from their championship club and it gained considerable strength on the right sight of the infield through the acquisition of "Starky" Adams from the Cubs.

That statement just about tells the story of the 1928 Pirates. Their only real weakness last year was at first and second bases, Joe Harris having slowed up and George Grantham being an indifferent key-stoner. With Adams on second, Grantham has been sent to first base, where he is much more effective on defense.

Pretty Much Same

The rest of the club is pretty much as it was when the last play of the world series was over. It considers that it pulled a fast one in getting Burleigh Grimes from the Giants for Vic Aldridge but otherwise the pitching staff is unchanged. Its regulars in addition to Grimes are Carmen Hill and Lee Meadows, the bi-focal twins; Ray Kremer, due for a better year if he can escape further injuries, and John Miljus, the Californian who helped pitch the club into the pennant late last year.

Earl Smith and Johnny Gooch are

NURSE INJURIES
New Orleans, March 20—Three Cleveland regulars today were nursing injuries received in Monday's practice session. Shortstop Joe Sewell was hit in the face by a batted ball and sustained a split lip. Gob. Buckeye and Joe Shante, pitchers, were hit on the foot and both will limp for a day or two.

PITCHING STRONG
Tampa, Fla., March 20—Although their hitting strength remains uncertain, the Brooklyn Robins are as strong as ever in pitching. Clark, Elliott and Ehrhardt had little difficulty in subduing the Phillies, 3 to 1, at Winter Haven yesterday. Today the Robins will take on the Senators here.

Marion Erie Veteran Says Automatic Telegraph Will Never Oust Old System

MODERN automatic telegraphing will never take the place of the present Morse system in railroading. This is the opinion of "Bill" Drake, telegraph operator of the Erie Railroad at Union Depot.

Mr. Drake has been working for the Erie for the last 30 years and in spite of the fact that he has lost an arm and leg, he handles his job as efficiently as other operators.

The automatic printing system of telegraphing is being installed on many roads and more will be used in the coming years, Drake says. Although simpler to operate and much faster the apparatus is, out of necessity, complicated. This system is more likely to get out of order than the old Morse method.

Railroads, he said, need a positive means of communication that is fairly reliable under all conditions. This is one of the principal reasons why the present system will always be a part of railroad equipment.

Few changes have taken place in railroad communication in the 30 years that Mr. Drake has been employed at the Erie. Equipment remains the same, but operators handle quite a bit more work than in former years.

Practically all of Drake's messages received over the wire are typewritten. He uses a typewriter with a set of keys for the capital letters as well as lower case. This instrument is quite a relief to him.

Mr. Drake is 60 years old. In 1885, he lost his arm and leg in a small accident. After that he studied telegraphing becoming an operator a few years later.

Adopting System

The present system is rapidly being adopted by practically all important railroads of the country, according to F. A. Solauer, supervisor of the Pennsylvania tracks in Marion.

The Pennsylvania, he said, was among the first to adopt the plan and last year 8,798 retired employees were on the company's "roll of honor" receiving pensions. During the year 1,002 names were added to the list, while 765 employees previously retired died. The net increase for the year was 237.

The oldest pensioner now on the list attained the age of 90 years during 1927. The average age of all pensioners at the end of the year was 72 years and nine months.

Total pension payments last year amounted to $5,055,781.47, an increase over 1926 of $490,155.63.

NEED MORE PAY

Army Aviators Should Get Better Rank, Too, Says Lindy

Washington, March 20—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has declared that army aviators do not receive the pay and rank that is their due.

The flier's position was made known in a letter to Representative Varian, Republican of Minnesota, who has introduced a bill to create a separate promotion list for the army air corps.

BODIES OF VICTIMS TAKEN FROM SUB S-4

Rest on Pallets in Chelsea Naval Hospital; Procession Is Solemn

Chelsea Naval Hospital, Chelsea, Mass., March 20—Bodies of the eight men who died at their posts in the submarine S-4 after a collision with the tugboat, today were resting on black-shrouded pallets in this hospital. Above was draped the Stars and Stripes.

In the distance, the slow steady tread of an armed blue-jacket was heard, as he paced the blue-jacket watch, the greatest honor of the navy to its heroes.

The bodies were those of: Lieut. Graham Fitch, Roger L. Short, Frank Snizek, Russell A. Crabb, Joseph L. Stevens, George Pelmar, William Dempsey, and Joseph M. Stierman.

The bodies found in the steel bulk of the submarine S-4 yesterday while the boat lay in dry dock at the Charleston Navy Yard, the salt and mud of their three month's entombment was removed and the bodies brought from the ship to the hospital late last night.

The procession from the ship was solemn. The slow march of the hero-laden ambulance was accompanied by the solemn steps of the blue-jacket watch. As the procession passed through the gates of the yard, marine and navy men stood at attention, with heads bared.

All of the 40 dead on the S-4 have been found, identified and sent to their homes or to national cemeteries in flag-draped caskets. Thirty-two bodies were recovered by divers when the submarine lay on the floor of the ocean off Provincetown.

The father, mother and widow of Lieut. Graham Newall Fitch, the last officer taken from the S-4, were here to claim the body.

JOHN HABERMAN, 84, CLAIMED BY DEATH

Civil War Veteran Dies of Pneumonia and Injuries Sustained in Fall

John Haberman, 84, Civil War Veteran, died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home, two and one-half miles northwest of Green Camp. Mr. Haberman had been suffering from pneumonia and injuries sustained about two weeks ago when he fell while rising from a chair at his home. He had been bedfast for eight days.

Mr. Haberman was born in Baden, Germany, June 19, 1849, coming to this country at the age of 11. His parents were Ernest and Catherine Lechman Haberman. Mr. Haberman served with Company D, Eighth Second Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry in the Civil War until he was wounded in the second battle of Bull Run. He was a retired farmer and a member of the Reformed Church west of Green Camp. His wife, Mrs. Catherine Ziegler Haberman, to whom he was married Oct. 21, 1871 in Marion County, preceded him in death five years ago.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. John Jacobs and Mrs. Pearl Knachel, and three sons, Otto, Arthur and Carl Haberman, all west of Green Camp and seven grandchildren. Five other children preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at the home, at 2 o'clock and at the Reformed Church, with which he was affiliated, at 2:30 on Wednesday. Rev. R. C. Wingard of Indianapolis, formerly a pastor of the Reformed Church, will officiate and burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery.
